Sportsheets® International, Inc. has been Keeping Couples Connected® since 1993.

The company's ever-growing line of fantasy products have spiced up the sex lives of countless men, women and couples around the world. Known for quality, creativity and competitive pricing, Sportsheets® has become a trusted friend and confidant to a growing community of sexually curious adults from every walk of life.

It all started when founder and CEO, Tom Stewart, saw a Velcro®-wearing David Letterman jump off a trampoline and stick to a wall. Tom, who was a helicopter pilot at the time, pulled together a few Marine buddies and their girlfriends for an informal focus group, asking them what they thought about being restrained. He got a big thumbs-up — especially from the women who liked that it would be easy to get out of.

And so was born the original Sportsheet, a Velcro® Bondage Bedsheet that became a worldwide phenomenon. Updated versions of the Sportsheet continue to be bestsellers today.

Over the years, Sportsheets® has continually sought to provide couples with innovate ways to live out their fantasies, expanding its offering into a wide array of award-winning restraint systems, sex toys, sexual position devices and more.

Today, Tom remains CEO of Sportsheets, with a hand in R&D and new product development. In 1999, he brought his sister, Julie Stewart, on board to lead business operations and in 2012 she became president. The two have watched the company grow from a small business run out of Tom's garage to a large global corporation that was twice named to the Inc. 5000 fastest-growing companies.

Over 25 years into the business, the Sportsheets team's mission remains the same: Empowering men and women to fully explore their sexuality while keeping couples connected®... literally and figuratively.
